Double features and late race drama at Off Road Speedway

By RANDY POSPISHIL

sports@norfolkdailynews.com Jul 27, 2025

A three-week wait following a July 4 rainout created a rare double feature night of racing at Off Road Speedway on Saturday. Those 12 “A” feature races, contested on a tacky fast track, provided an abundance of late-race drama, including lost wheels bouncing down the track on three occasions, a car rollover on the front stretch and several other out-of-the-ordinary occurrences.

The night’s racing action began with a make-up of the July 4 feature races, beginning with the IMCA Late Models “A” feature where Columbus driver Anthony Roth — the night’s only eventual double-winner — took the lead one lap into the 20-lap race and sped to a straightaway-length win over the field. Nelson Vollbrecht of Stanton finished second, well ahead of Norfolk’s Chase Osborne, who took third place.

Fourteen-year-old Cody Malasek of Emerson earned his first-ever Off Road Speedway feature win by finishing first in the IMCA Hobby Stocks race. Malasek got to the front following the first of three cautions, bolting past two cars through turns one and two on the restart to pull alongside race leader Travis Landauer. Malasek then took over the lead on the next caution and held off race-long challenges — the first by Landauer, and later by both Wyatt Lehman and Jason Wilkinson — during the final seven laps before securing the victory. Wilkinson, of Neligh, edged Norfolk racer Lehman as the pair finished in second and third place, respectively.

James Roebuck of Genoa won the IMCA SportMods “A” feature, leading all 15 laps. But he ultimately had to hold on during a green-white-checkered finish after spinning out following contact with Norfolk’s Colby Langenberg. On the single-file restart, Cameron Meyer briefly gained an advantage on Roebuck as the two cars exited turn four, but Roebuck regained the lead during the final lap to earn the win. Meyer, of Pierce, was second with Michael Wolfe of Hartington finishing a distant third.

Scott Styskal of David City came out on top in an early two-car battle for the lead with Justin Bertschinger, then went on to win the IMCA Stock Cars “A” feature. Styskal led the final eight laps of the 15-lap feature while Neligh’s Cameron Wilkinson entered into the competition for second place with Bertschinger. Cameron Wilkinson quickly took over the second spot and held it the last five laps as Bertschinger, of Norfolk, finished third.

Alyssa Thies of Mapleton, Iowa looking for the first Pro Stock 4 victory of her career — experienced the disappointment of holding a significant lead for the initial nine laps of the 10-lap feature before her car lost power entering the final lap. Second-place driver Zach Cordner of Norfolk inherited the lead and the win, while Norfolk’s Brenden Fleming and Yankton’s Braden Janssen finished in second and third place, respectively.

A late race side-by-side competition developed between Damon Arehart of Neligh and Hunter Betzen of Norfolk in the Crown Vic feature race. An unfortunate spin-out in turn four by Betzen during the white flag lap allowed Arehart to ease to the win, but even though Norfolkian Aden Mielke also passed Betzen to take second place, Betzen was able to cross the finish line to finish in third place in the spread-out field.

The July 26 regular night of racing began with double-winner Roth earning his second IMCA Late Models victory. Roth, who started in the last of five rows of cars, didn't make his way into contention until just three laps remained. The Columbus driver then came out on top of a three-car battle with Norfolk's Ben Sukup and Winside's Brock Carlson for the win while Sukup edged Carlson as the two cars passed the flag stand to finish in second and third place, respectively.

In the IMCA Hobby Stocks "A" feature, O'Neill's Dustin Jackson also came out on top of a multi-car competition for the lead, driving side-by-side with Norfolk's Joe Rosberg for the final six laps before gaining the edge at the finish line. Taking third place behind Rosberg was Norfolkian Jordan Uehling.

Twenty cars competed in the IMCA SportMods feature, a race that became an eight-caution marathon eventually won by Willy Kirk of Sloan, Iowa. Kirk, whose journey to the front began from a starting position on the outside of the sixth of 10 rows, didn't obtain the lead until just three laps remained. Kirk had been chasing Roebuck, who was seeking his second feature win of the evening, for eight laps — including lining up behind the Genoa driver on the restart of the race's final caution with six laps left. While Roebuck held the lower line on the track, Kirk's pursuit on the outside was gradually gaining ground. Kirk was finally able to pass by gaining momentum on the outside of turn two and held off Roebuck the final two laps for the win. Meanwhile, Columbus driver Riley Osantowski finished just ahead of Meyer to earn third place.

Despite starting in the middle of the 15-car field, Norfolk's Tejay Mielke won the IMCA Stock Cars feature convincingly, leading 11 of 14 laps, with Lowell Roeber of Winnebago finishing in second place and Kyle Wilkinson of Neligh in third.

The Pro Stock 4 feature became a one-two finish of the Cordner brothers — both of Norfolk — with Sam earning the win while Zach took second. Thies finished a distant third.

After leading the final five laps, Hunter Betzen of David City won the Crown Vic feature race. Meanwhile, Aden Mielke of Norfolk finished in second place, with Grayson Stobbe of Columbus taking third.
