Pospisil wins fourth SLMR feature during Bob Haase Memorial

By RANDY POSPISHIL

sports@norfolkdailynews.com Aug 3, 2025

A fourth home track victory had to feel just as sweet as the other three for Norfolk's Tad Pospisil, who won the Super Late Model Racing "A" feature, the main event during the Bob Haase Memorial on Saturday at Off Road Speedway. Pospisil, who trails points leader Jesse Sobbing (Malvern, IA) by 10 points in the SLMR West Division standing, picked up his first division win and fourth top five finish of the season, but maybe just as importantly, his second in a row at the Norfolk track.

This time, as opposed to last year's come-from-behind effort from a starting position in the seventh row, Pospisil was able to break out early from the outside of row one into the lead, then went wire-to-wire for the victory. The starting position, along with a fast car and two timely cautions, were key components to the No. 04 car staying out front—but so was a risky choice in the middle of the race. The first caution occurred just seven laps into the 30-lap feature, just as Pospisil was moving into lapped traffic. Although the restart kept pursuers Jesse Sobbing and Kyle Berck at his rear bumper, it cleared the track ahead of slower cars and allowed Pospisil to choose his line. Similarly, with 17 laps remaining, Pospisil again caught up to the tail end of the field, but before the next caution arrived, with lapped cars running both high and low ahead of him and Berck on the chase, Pospisil darted between them unscathed and without losing momentum. One lap later, with a persistent Berck making up ground behind him, the second caution once again provided Pospisil with clean sailing and a chance to hold off Berck.

One final caution created a green-white-checkered restart, but Pospisil maintained the lead while Berck had his own battle from a hard-charging Sobbing. Pospisil's win netted a $3,000 purse while Berck, of Marquette, held on for a second-place finish with Sobbing taking third. Corey Zeitner of Omaha—who also picked up the "hard-charger" award for moving up from a starting position of 14th in the 22-car field—and area racer Cory Dumpert of Newman Grove took fourth and fifth place, respectively. Other area racers included Plainview's Beau Johnson (11th), Alex Banks of Newman Grove (13th), and Dylan Schmer of Aurora (14th).

Cautions late in the race also affected features in other regular divisions, including the IMCA Stock Cars event. Neligh's Cameron Wilkinson not only started deep in the 12-car field, but also overcame a momentary loss of control on one occasion and contact during a side-by-side moment on the backstretch on another, before consecutive late cautions set up a sprint to the finish. Wilkinson held off second-place finisher Lowell Roeber of Winnebago and Norfolk's Tejay Mielke, who also came from near the back to take third.

Likewise, Riley Osantowski's "A" feature win in the IMCA SportMods class survived a caution on the final lap. Osantowski obtained the lead after passing pole-sitter and early leader Kyler Rojewski with 12 laps remaining, then maintained it despite restarts following three cautions during the next four laps—before earning the win in the dramatic ending. Two Iowa drivers—Willy Kirk of Sloan and Jake Newsom of Sioux City—finished in second and third-place, respectively.

Jordan Encinger of Grand Island earned his first Off Road Speedway win of the season in the IMCA Hobby Stocks "A" feature, edging Norfolk's Wyatt Lehman who was closing quickly on the Encinger's inside—taking advantage of previous second place driver Travis Landauer's misfortune of contacting the wall in turn two. Finishing behind Lehman in third place was Seth Steinmeyer of Bancroft, who came out on top of his own late challenge by Cody Malasek of Emerson.

Misfortune again cost Alyssa Thies of Mapleton, Iowa, an opportunity for her first career victory in the Pro Stock 4 division. Thies got the lead two laps into the 10-lap feature, but with three laps left saw her car get loose entering turn one, then develop mechanical failure, allowing Norfolk's Bentley Freeman to take the win—passing new race leader Zach Cordner, also of Norfolk during a green-white-checked finish to end the race. Finishing behind Cordner was Braden Janssen of Yankton.

Six cars competed in the Crown Vic's "A" feature, with the top three finishers maintaining position in a spread-out field—David City's Hunter Betzen took first, Damon Arehart of Neligh was second, and Aden Mielke of Norfolk was third.

The Midwest Classic Stock Cars also made an appearance on Saturday.

The top three spots all went to Chevrolet's, with Shawn Rasmussen of Albion taking first in a 1975 Nova, while Dean Wilkinson of Oakdale finished second in a '72 Camaro and Eric Cerny of Rogers earned third place in a '69 Chevelle.
