Last regular night of racing sets up final two specials at Off Road Speedway

By RANDY POSPISHIL

sports@norfolkdailynews.com Aug 17, 2025

A variety of events in the area may have reduced the number of cars entered in the last regular night of racing at Off Road Speedway on Saturday, but the “A” features in the five divisions were as competitive as ever. The three drivers at the top of the points list in the IMCA Late Models class were the top three finishers in Saturday’s “A” feature, although in a different order. Plainview’s Beau Johnson, currently in third and trailing points leader Chase Osborne of Norfolk by 17 points entering the race, won the feature after wrestling the lead from pole sitter Jason Jacob four laps into the 20-lap event. Johnson was then able to hold off not only Osborne but also Bloomfield racer Devin Johnson, who finished third. Going into the race, Devin Johnson held the second position in points, just 10 points behind Osborne.

Cameron Wilkinson won the IMCA Stock Cars “A” feature on Saturday, notching his fifth Off Road Speedway win of the season. Wilkinson, the points leader in the division, added to the 46-point advantage he held over fellow Neligh driver Derek Sehi going into the race. Starting near the back of the nine-car field, Wilkinson worked his way into second place within the first five laps but didn’t get the lead until edging Norfolk’s Eric Haase by a matter of inches at the finish line on the final lap. Once again, Wilkinson’s ability to gain momentum exiting turn two into the backstretch allowed him to power through turns three and four, using the high side of the track to catch and pass Haase, who finished second and led every other lap in the race. Chad Bruns of Wayne took third.

Cody Malasek earned his first IMCA Hobby Stocks “A” feature win at Off Road Speedway. Malasek, of Emerson, started six rows back in the 20-car field but made his way into contention in time for the last of three cautions — a critical restart after race leader Gage Koch experienced mechanical problems with six laps remaining. With Koch relinquishing the lead to Zachary Sweigard, Malasek — who was aligned on the inside of the second row in the Delaware-double restart — dove to the inside exiting turn two and pulled alongside Sweigard on the next lap. One lap later, Malasek possessed the front spot while Trevor Frisch seized an opportunity to also squeeze past Sweigard, following Malasek across the finish line four laps later in second place with Sweigard taking third. Frisch and Sweigard are both Norfolk drivers. None of the three are in contention to threaten points leader Jason Wilkinson, despite the Neligh driver’s 16th-place finish.

Cameron Meyer of Pierce recorded his fourth “A” feature win at Off Road Speedway this season — his second in a row — while also continuing to run away with the points title in the division. Meyer started in the fifth of six rows but quickly moved up to secure the lead from Norfolkian Colby Langenberg with 11 laps left. Langenberg pursued Meyer for the rest of the race but was unable to create a challenge, eventually finishing second ahead of Willy Kirk — a Sloan, Iowa, driver.

Norfolk’s Bentley Freeman was able to follow up his second-place finish a week ago with a win in the Pro Stock 4 feature race, his fourth victory of the season. Freeman entered the night in the second spot on the points list, trailing leader Braden Janssen of Yankton by 20 points. Zach Corder of Norfolk finished second with Alyssa Thies of Mapleton, Iowa, taking third place.

Two special nights remain on the Off Road Speedway season schedule, beginning with this Saturday's Lynn Langenberg Memorial, which will showcase the 410 Sprint Cars of the Midwest Sprint Touring Series in a $5,000-to-win "A" feature. The IMCA Hobby Stocks division will also finalize its points championship, with a fireworks display planned as the night's finale. The other five divisions will complete a regular night of competition. Racing is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. The season will wrap up on Saturday, Aug. 30 with a combination of fan appreciation night to be held in conjunction with championship night. Fans are reminded that admission for the night will be a canned food donation.
