Starting in the front doesn't guarantee finishing in front

By Randy Pospishil

sports@norfolkdailynews.com Jul 12, 2026

A starting position in the front row of an “A” feature at Off Road Speedway, although it provides an opportunity, does not ensure victory. Only one of the cars located in row one at the beginning of any of the six feature races earned a spot in Victory Lane on Saturday.

That was the No. 26 car, which was driven by Meadow Grove’s Justin Addison and started on the outside of the front row in the IMCA Stock Cars feature. Addison, who won last week’s IMCA SportMods race but finished 10th in the Stock Cars division, left no doubt in Saturday night’s win by leading all 15 laps without a primary challenger. In a reverse of last week’s second- and third-place order, Chad Bruns of Wayne finished ahead of Norfolk’s Tejay Mielke in the competition for the runner-up spot.

The winners in the five other features made their way to the front from farther back in the starting grid, including Norfolkkan Matt Haase in the IMCA Late Models “A” feature. Haase, who started in the second row, fell back to fourth early in the 20-lap race. But, following a caution, he squeezed between cars on the restart to get behind early leader Jason Jacob. Five laps later, when Jacob was forced to leave the race because of a fuel leak, Haase took advantage — leading the rest of the way despite three more cautions that kept a trio of competitors close. Those cars, however, were unable to find any opportunity to challenge for the lead and, as the cars spread out, maintained their positions the remainder of the race with Norfolk’s Chase Osborne taking second place with Beau Johnson of Plainview finishing third.

In the IMCA SportMods feature, starting in the front kept pole sitter Ronnie Grass in the lead for just four laps before his counterpart in the front row, Tyler Olnes, passed him on the outside coming out of turn four. But Olnes’ hold on the lead lasted just four laps before a spin-out and the consequence of being sent to the rear of the field allowed eventual winner Jonathan Jensen to take over the front spot. Jensen led the final seven laps for the win while Cameron Meyer of Pierce recovered from contact that nearly created a spin-out of his own to rally from fourth place with just five laps left into a second-place finish ahead of Landyn Roebuck of Genoa, who took third.

Wyatt Lehman led almost every lap during his IMCA Hobby Stocks feature win, but to secure his victory, the Norfolk driver had to survive a variety of challenges. Those challenges included four restarts before a single lap was concluded in the race and a beginning-to-end pursuit by three separate cars driven by Hans Houfek, Tyler Thompson and Nate Buck. Most relentless of those was Buck, a Neligh driver who took over the chase by passing Thompson nine laps into the 20-lap feature and repeatedly pressuring Lehman on restarts following three cautions — the last time with just four laps remaining — before Lehman secured the win. Travis Landauer of Albion gradually moved forward from a starting position in the fifth row and didn’t appear among the top three until passing Thompson with six laps left. Landauer then came out on top of that two-car competition during the last three laps, holding off Thompson for a third-place finish.

The same three drivers from a week ago took the top three places in the IMCA Sport Compact feature but not in the same order of finish. This time, Norfolk’s Bentley Freeman rallied from the middle of the field, moving quickly into the lead on the restart after an early caution, and established a multi-car advantage en route to the win.

Likewise, Johnny Thomas of Beatrice made his way from the fifth of six rows into second place, while Pierce driver Kiegan Werner did the same to take third in what became a three-car race.

In the Crown Vics feature, Jimmy Benck of Norfolk won his first race of the season — and his first at Off Road Speedway — after inheriting the front spot when two cars ahead of him experienced issues with a loose hood and flat tire. Benck maintained the lead during the final six laps for the win, while Gage Kimmel of Hoskins and Kaleb Bruggeman of Allen took second and third place, respectively — both pouncing on opportunity after Cole Vanosdall's car drifted wide in turn two heading into the race's final lap.

No racing is scheduled for this Saturday, but races will return on Saturday, July 25, when Off Road Speedway will host the Sunoco Late Model night.
